Continentals join the world

President-elect John F. Kennedy and Indiana's Governor Matthew E. Welsh arrive in Indianapolis for a campaign dinner.

America's "Profile in Courage," John Fitzgerald Kennedy was killed by an assassin's bullet as he rode through the streets of downtown Dallas Novemer 22, 1963. The beloved 35th President of the United States led his country two years and eleven months combatting the Cuban crisis and the racial strifes of the nation, and his work and interest in the space program has made the United States a forerunner in this field. In his second attempt at the Democratic National Convention, Kennedy won his party's nomination for Chief Executive. During his campaign he traveled throughout the nation discussing his political views and meeting the people. It was then that he won the title, "The People's President." Only 46 years of age J.F.K. had been an avid athlete, a graduate of Harvard University, commander of the famed P.T.-109, United States senator from Massachusetts, an active politician, author of two best-selling books, and the father of two children, Caroline and John.

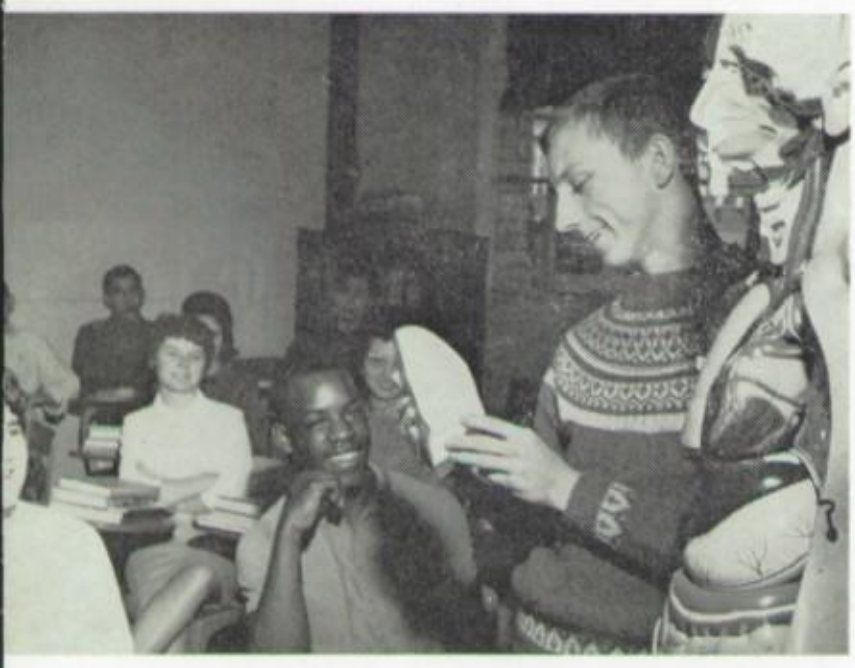
In Academics



David Danish discusses the human anatomy in a health class.

Mr. Paul Schnepf lectures to his students in his U.S. History Class.

As we study to increase our knowledge and as we prepare for our places in life—Continentals show their abilities in all academic fields. To enrich our minds and, therefore, to enrich our lives—we become strong Continentals. Our hopes of the future and successes of the past are marked in these pages as Continentals set the mood academically.

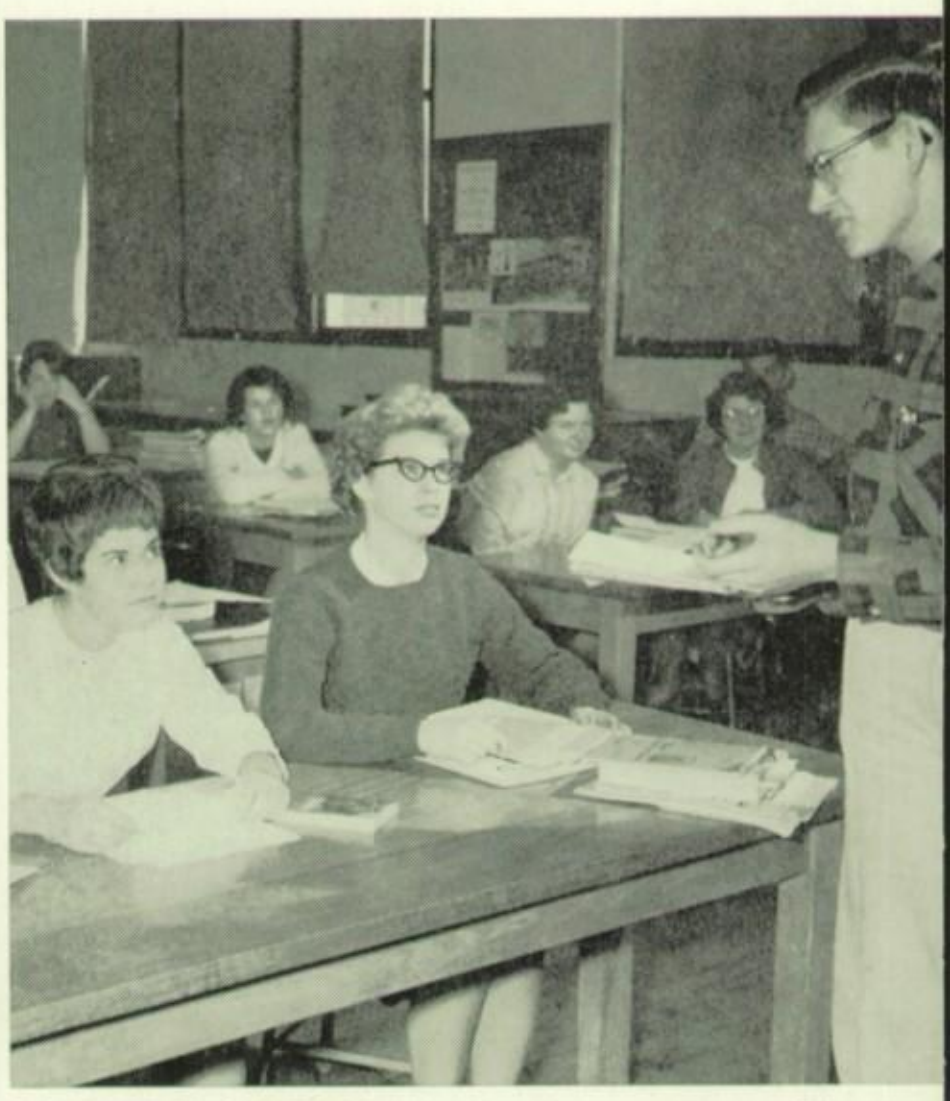
Senior Ann Phillips gives her undivided attention to the teacher in her derivatives class.

Speech, drama, and journalism add

NEED SOME HELP? Jime Stocbick offer some assistance to Judy Lee with a library assignment.

Courses taken in English can help us to master the fundamental skills emphasized by the English Department. By learning to read, write, speak, and putting to use what we hear, we are able to communicate better. Through taking literature and composition, we are able to develop these traits further. A student who takes all the courses offered by the English Department in four years, will have completed an equivalent of nine years of work. There are many electives offered in English such as debate, journalism, dramatics, and Latin and Greek Derivatives. Various opportunities for awards are available to those who are advanced in English. The National Council of Teachers offers an awards program each year. Out of the top twenty-two students in the state, there has been a recipient from Washington for the past four years. In addition, students who are interested in poetry have an opportunity to compete in the annual Poetry Reading Contest which is sponsored by the English Department.

INTERESTING! Freshmen roll room students read the SURVEYOR to catch up on all of the latest activities of Continentals.



SOCRATES SAYS! Kerry Stratton quotes to Verna Mills and Debby Gano the words of a great man while studying the historian phase of Humanities.

interest to required English courses

"WHERE IS THAT BOOK?" Karen Powell looks over the books in the Developmental Reading Lab as two students read diligently with the pacer.

THE GREAT ORATOR. Gordon Dempsey presents his speech to the other members of one of Mr. Kettler's Speech classes.

ACCENT ON ENGLISH AUTHORS. Betty Sanders and Victor Jump read aloud in their English X class material covering sonnets, poems, and novels.

PARLEZ VOUS FRANCAIS! Mrs. Elizabeth Baldwin directs the question to her advanced French class.

VENI, VIDI, VICI. Jennifer Gearris and Ronnie Knoble show their Latin class points of interest.

Language and social

The History Department offers many opportunities to students of all grade levels. All pupils are required to take two semesters of United States History, which gives them the opportunity to study their country's background. American Government and Economics, two other required courses, take a much closer look at the federal, state, and local governments and their functions.

Our Language Department, which offers French, Latin, and Spanish, attempt to teach the structure and grammar of the elected foreign language as well as to acquaint the student with the language laboratory. This enables the student to hear and practice speaking the foreign language in actual conversation. Some time is devoted to studying the customs of the country in an attempt to create interest.

ES VERDAD? Joni Hart masters the techniques of speaking Spanish in the language laboratory.

THEN YOU PULL THIS LEVER! Donna Wilson and Dick Funk show their government class how to operate the voting machine for the Senior elections.

WHAT IS HAPPENING IN THE WORLD? Mr. Thomas' World History class keeps up on current events through educational films.

THIS IS THE PLACE! Bob McCoy points out a historical landmark for Linda Browning.

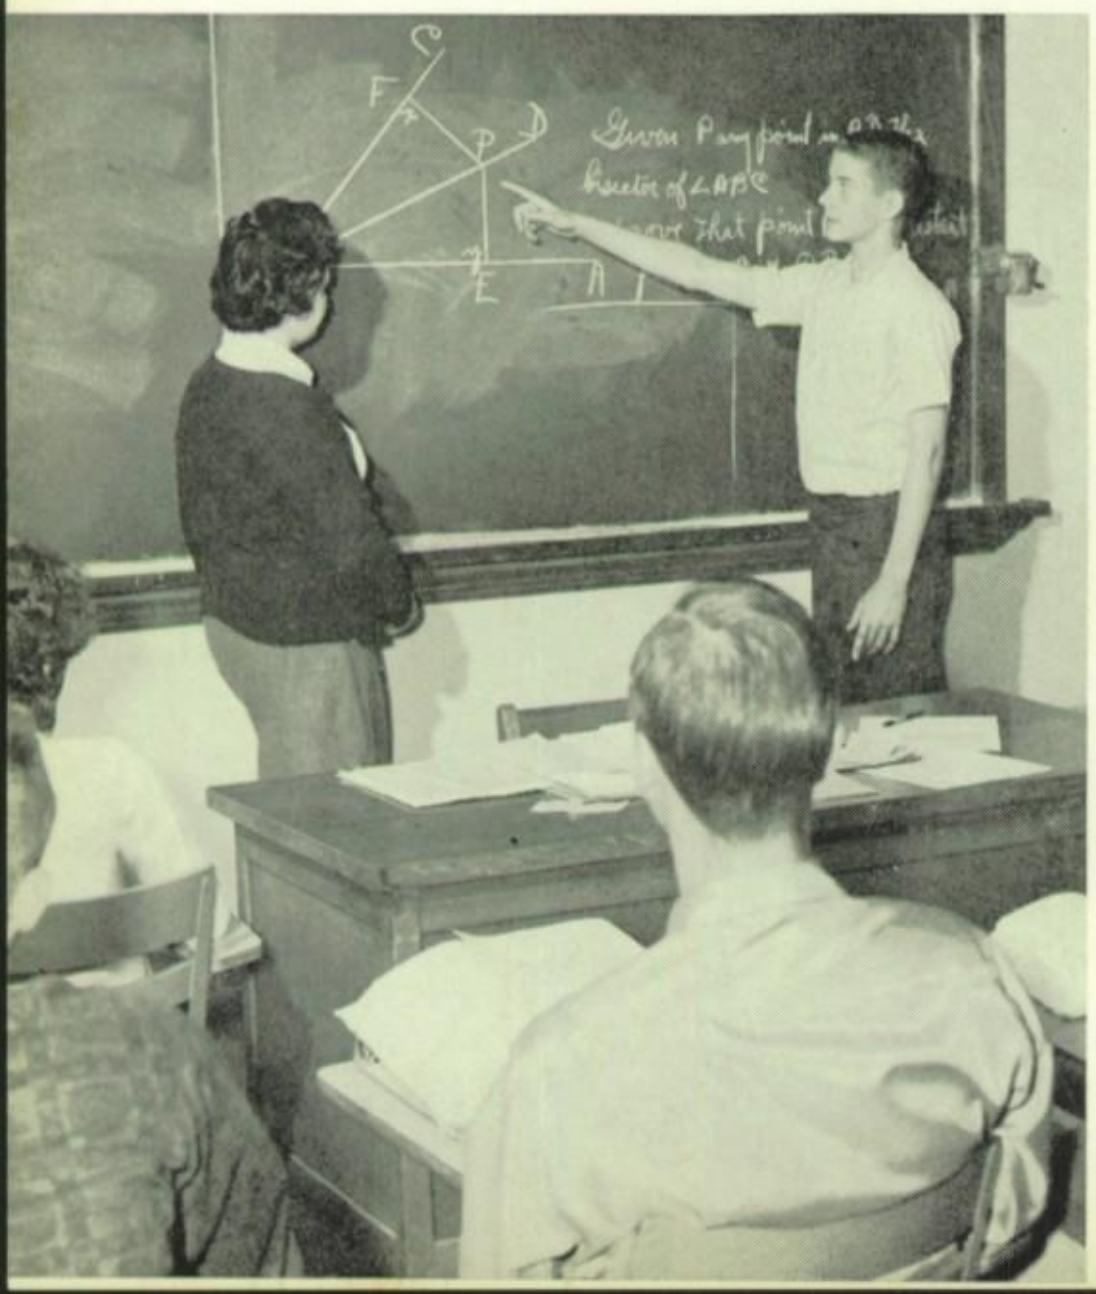
Minds are enriched by the wonders of BEGINNERS ALL! Two freshmen girls learn the basic fundamentals in an algebra class.

Mathematics, a vital necessity for every day living, is a major part of each pupil's program. For those not planning to attend college, general math will be helpful in the future. The subjects offered for the college bound student include: algebra, geometry, college algebra, trigonometry, and analytic geometry. These classes are divided and taught among nine instructors in the Mathematics Department.

More students are beginning to take an interest in science each year. Courses of interest and importance to every student are offered by the Science Department. Freshmen have the opportunity to study physical science. For students wishing to further their knowledge of science, biology, chemistry, and phyics are the courses available. The Science Department strives to keep the students informed of the scientific discoveries and developments in our unique and ever-changing world.

POINT D EQUALS. Rick Blake proves a theorem to Paula Gregory in their geometry class.



CO-SINE! Barry Bacon and Dennis Panarisi demonstrate a sliderule to their trigonometry class.

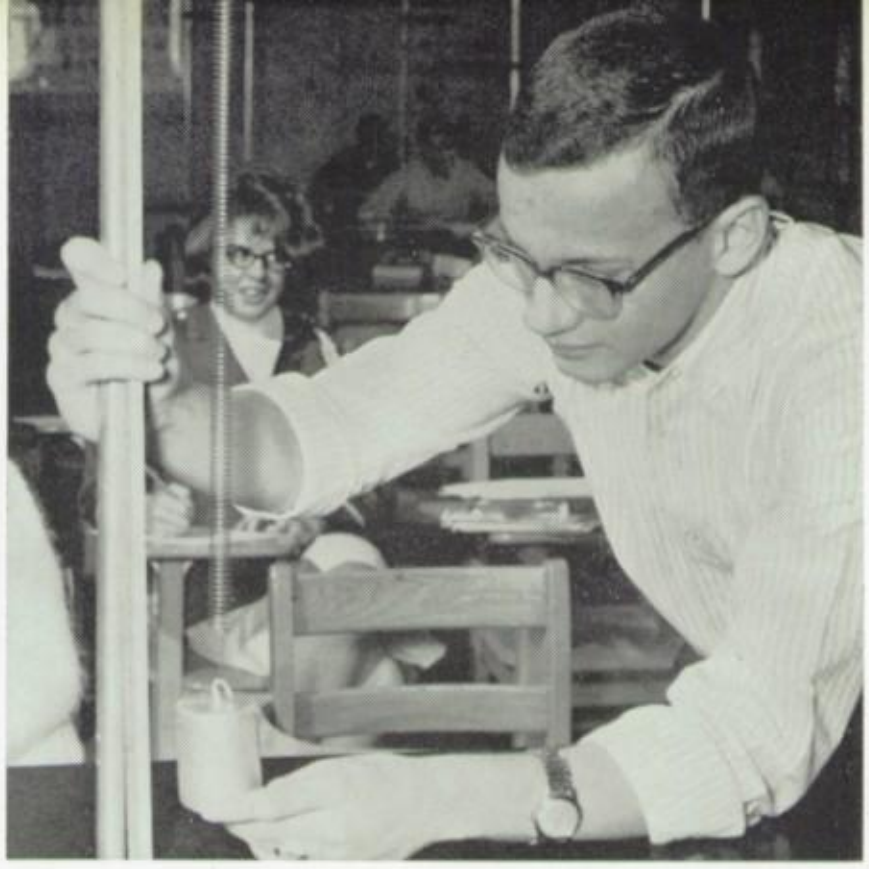
TAKING A LOOK. Danny Johnson examines the mysterious contents under the microscope in Biology II.

WATCH THAT FLAME. Steve Dolson and Leslie Sims use a Bunsen Burner for experimental purpose only in a physical science class.



HOLD IT STEADY. Jerry Wampler demonstrates the spring balance to his Physics I class.

PRECISION COUNTS. Ralph Taylor and Ray Knight set up needed apparatus for an experiment in their chemistry class while Richard Strange observes.

Art is influential

PROPER TECHNIQUE! Two students study some of the finer points of a work in an art class.

POP IT IN THE OVEN! Shasta Williams and Becky Fielder prepare their pottery for the kiln in art class.

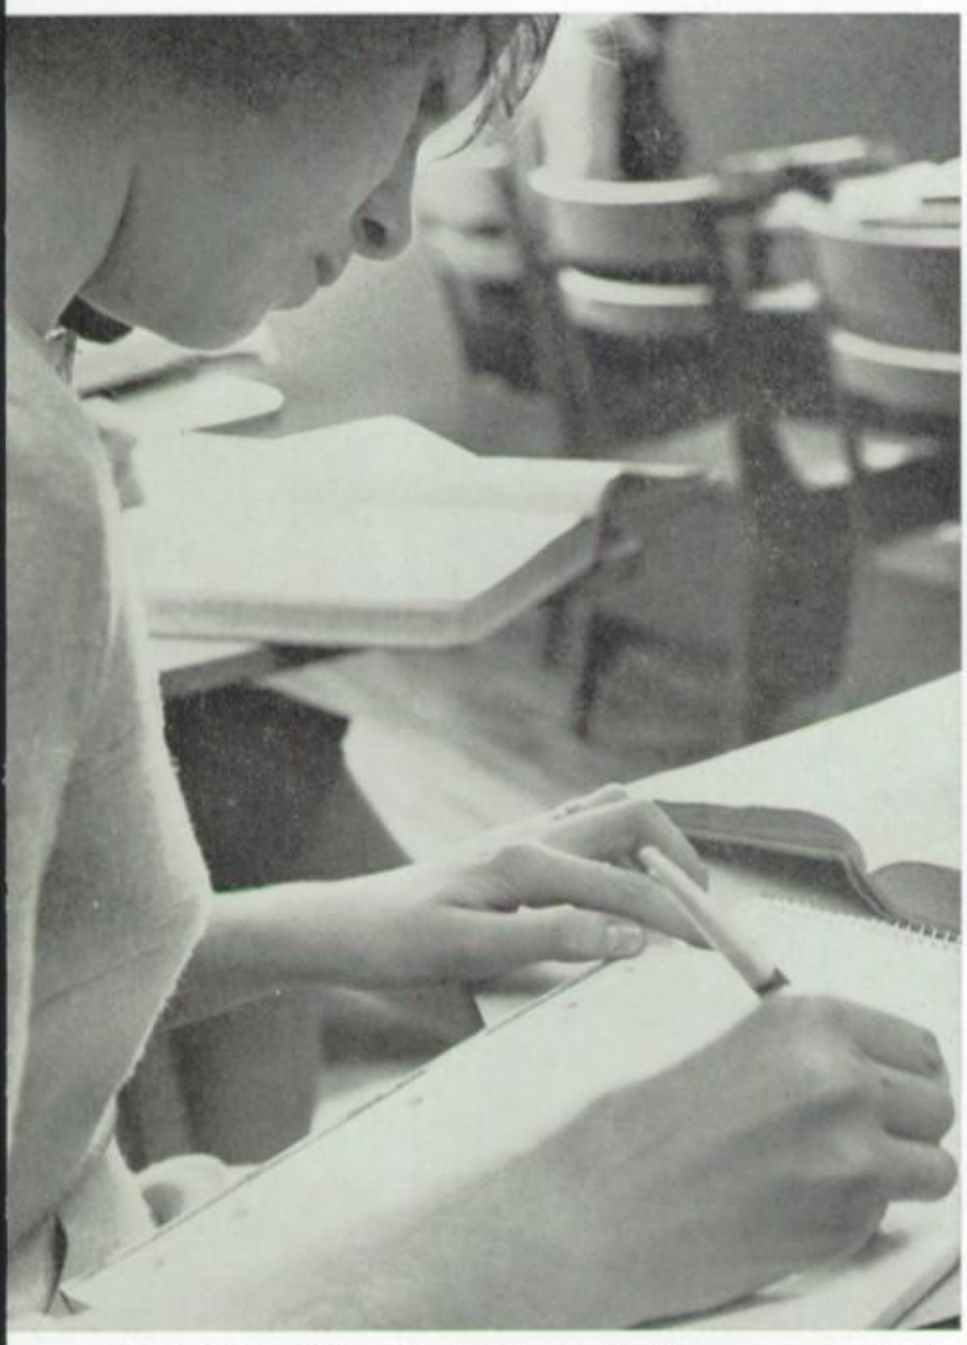
MASTER ENGRAVERS! Ronnie Lewis, Bill Mathis, and Howard Grounds create new designs in Jewelry class.

Developing skills and bringing out a pupil's individuality is the goal of the art department. Emphasis is not put on making an artist of each pupil, but to bring out individual qualities, and ideals. The many courses offered include Art I-VIII, Jewelry, Craft Arts, Lettering, and Commercial Art. The personality refinements gained through each art course make for a much richer and fuller life.

Preparation for an occupation is one of the prime objectives of education. The business department accomplishes this by developing in the pupil the many skills needed in our complex business world. General Business and Business Law give the student an understanding of business policies, while typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and salesmanship give him the practical experience that business requires.

Pupils learn tactics of business world

INCREASING HER SPEED! Dictation time is a familiar phrase heard in this shorthand class as Jean Scotton takes dictation from Mr. Carmichael.



WORKING FOR AN A! Study habits are one of the many fundamentals we are taught as this Freshman gets off to a good start in her General Business class.

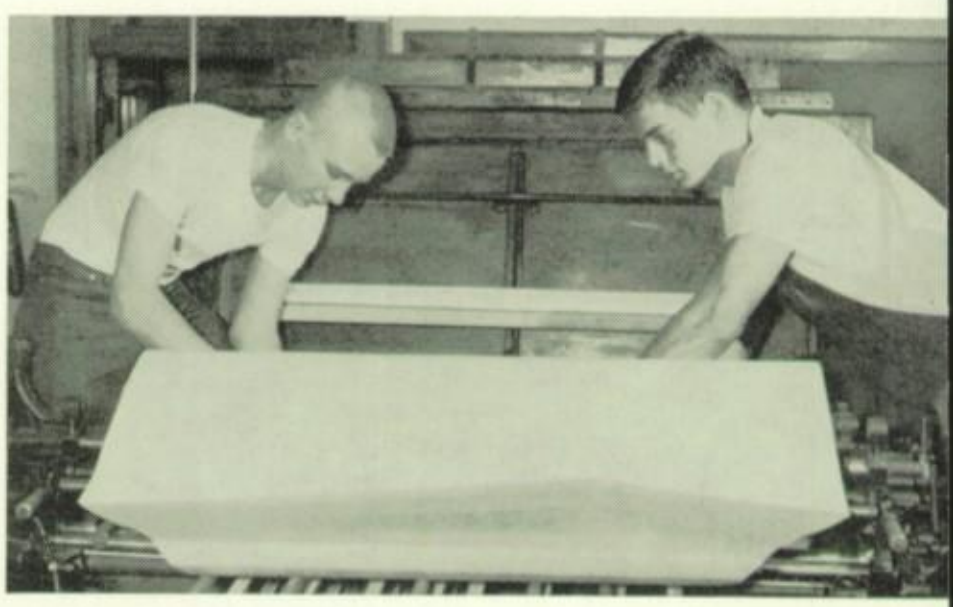
30...40...50 WPM! Eugene Williamson tries desperately to better his net words on speed writings.

Shops and domestic sciences

MUST BE EXACT. Boys in Machine Shop learn that exactness and skill produces projects.

A stitch or two in time mends old garments and completes new ones for the girls enrolled in clothing classes. Pupils in home economics receive training not only for future careers but also for all phases of homemaking and family relations. Courses in food, clothing, and home nursing are available to girls interested in the domestic sciences. Family Living instructs pupils in living more effectively now and also in the future as adults and parents.

Industrial arts courses encourage self-improvement and give boys a chance to develop skills. Mechanical drawing helps pupils develop talent for occupations in architecture, engineering, and commercial art. Boys in metal and wood shop make projects which can be used in the home, in school, or in an office.



MEET THE DEADLINE. Morris Phillips and Don Poole operate the press that helps to print the POST.

NO MISTAKES PLEASE. Duane Pike sets copy on the Linotype Machine for the SURVEYOR.

prepare students for vocational pursuit

SEW EASY. Advancing her skill of sewing is Cheryl Catt at the machine, while classmates work busily at the tables on their garments.

WAITING TO BE SERVED. After carefully preparing the menu for the day's foods classes, the girls sample their preparations for quality.

COOPERATIVE INFANTS. Proper child care is emphasized in Home Nursing. Linda Pierson and Jackie Flowers demonstrate the care of a small child.

Washington's marching band consists of a highly cooperative group of sixty-nine Continentals under the leadership of Head Drum Major Robert Bremer and six majorettes. The band marches at all the home games and participates in several Holiday parades throughout the city.

Making its debut during the Christmas season, our largest mixed performing group, the Colonial Chorus, sings as Snow Carolers in various parts of the city. Representing Washington, the Colonial Chorus participates in the All-City-School Festival each year, presenting a selection of classical and popular music.

The Girl's Ensemble and the Continentalaires are two of our versatile, small singing groups which perform for community and school activities. The Ensemble, compromised of ten girls, concentrates on blend and quality of tone. The Continentalaires add a decorative touch to their programs with their very effective use of choreography.

stimulates the growth of culture

Singing at various concerts throughout the city, our Boys' Concert Club, recipients of new blazers, sponsored the Turn-about-Twril this year. Appearing at the All Girls' Spring Concert Festival, the Girls' Concert Club competes with groups from many other schools. After a late start due to the football season, our dance band, made up of twenty members, arrange their own material. The symphony, composed of select members of the orchestra, participate at major school functions while the symphonette, the cream of the symphony, performs at all of the school plays throughout the year. These organizations add to the musical festivities of the school year and add culture and refinement to our curriculum.

Members of the ROTC are working hard to maintain precision in their work. Some of the basic requirements for cadets under the direction of P/SGT. Robert R. Bowman are cleaning, reassembling, and dismantling guns. ROTC prepares young men for future military requirements.

Gym is a subject that is required of all students at Washington. One year is required, whereas four years are available. Students enrolled in gym use the same equipment in all classes'; however, their nature of skills becomes harder as they advance.

The Drivers Education classes have been using this year a drivotrainer, which is providded to give the students the experience of actual driving with the use of films. The students enrolled in Drivers Education spend one day in the car each week and the rest of the week in the drivotrainer. The device is of great help to all beginning drivers.

VERY IMPORTANT PEOPLE! ! Members of the faculty basketball team are Front Row: Gerald England, Kenneth Schuster, Jerry Oliver, Frank Munshower, and Howard Leedy. Back Row: Herschel Ross, Robert Gurchiek, Richard Harmening, Thomas McCormick, and Robert Springer. They defeated the Intramural All-Stars.

The faculty as well as the pupils at Washington participate in many extra-curricular activities. Faculty basketball team is composed of male teachers from every department in the school. One of the highlights of the season is the faculty - student game. The sensational production of the Capers Faculty Show, "Snow White and The Seven Dwarfs," displayed a considerable amount of extra work by each teacher who participated. During the year the teachers assist at most school functions and sponsor the many clubs. These activities provide the opportunity for students to realize the gay side of our teachers and that they, too, enjoy fun and excitment, while at the same time, are the best skilled for the job of teaching each pupil.

HI HO, HI HO... Snow White portrayed by Miss Carol Holmes is comforted by the Seven Dwarfs in one scene of the faculty show.

A JOB FOR HERCULES? Mr. Amos Slaton hopes to present a prize as one of his competitors works desperately at driving the nail in the board.

Mrs. Bohlsen is the cafeteria manager.

Cooks and janitors ready school for our use

Two of the most neglected groups in our school are the cooks and janitors. Everything which takes place around the school requires preparation by the janitors. Our nourishing and and appetizing meals are prepared every day by our cooking staff. These two devoted groups sacrifice much in their devotion to our high school. They arrive early and leave late to make things convenient for us.

PAINT UP, FIX UP, CLEAN UP! These are our custodians who help to keep our school clean. They are Roy Morris, Frank Stergar, Walter Padgth, Ted D. Hamilton, J. G. Sida, William Wulzen, Head Custodian; Kenneth D. Dider, Eddie Vespo.

Hundreds of tickets exchanged hands as students voted for the popularity contest king and queen.

As we join together to co-operate and to learn, and as we experience satisfaction from projects well done, we find that learning goes beyond books and helps to develop mental awareness as Continentals set the mood in activities.

RIGHT CUE? Vicki Benson shows expressions of hard work after rehearsing her lines in "Life with Father."

Three of the highlights of the school year were the excellent dramatic productions. Last fall the Senior Play, "Life with Father," played before two sellout crowds. The Continental Capers were accented by two very excellent productions by students and faculty. The student show was a typical country hootenanny, while the faculty show was a comical rendition of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Perhaps the climax of the season was the Junior Revue. The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical "King and I" was selected. This is the most outstanding musical ever attempted at Washington and has been regarded as a complete success.

LET'S TRY THAT AGAIN. Members of the cheerblock run through some of their yells which they used during the sectionals at Southport.

Adding color and enthusiasm to our school spirit was the cheerblock which was organized and sponsored by Mr. Ronald Thomas and Miss Jeanette Amsden. Once a week the cheerblock stayed after school in order to practice yells, motions, and formations trying to reach near perfection. An all out campaign was run for the purpose of arousing the students and helping them become aware of the necessity of a good cheering section. With only one team loss, the cheerblock and team went to the sectionals with more school spirit and enthusiasm than ever before in the history of the school. During that time, with new yells and formations to demonstrate, the cheerblock represented the school well. Their blue and white capes and gloves helped to add color to the section and contributed much to its uniformity.

FAST TALKERS! Those who attended the Debate Workshop last summer are Jim Coffman, Mary Martin, Loretta, Kerry Stratton, and Bette Kramer.

FUTURE ACTORS! Traveling to Purdue this summer were Larry Key and Kerry Stratton. Those traveling to the Civic Theatre were Dorothy Baird and Joe Childers. This will benefit our productions.

SCIENTISTS OF TOMORROW! Students who attended the Science Workshops are Vicki Hennigar, Debby Gano, and Gary Gunther.

Outstanding Continentals traveled to different parts of the state to attend various institutes.

Debators traveled to many meets and conferences to learn new and better techniques of their activity.

Future actors and actresses went to Purdue and joined Civic Theatres to develop their ability in stage production, acting, and direction.

Scientist's of tomorrow met at colleges throughout the state to compare latest scientific data and plan complicated experiments. And the traveling journalists represented Washington at Indiana University to participate in summer workshops to learn new ideas to make the school's bi-weekly newspaper and the yearbook better each year.

TRAVELING AND LEARNING... Representing Washington at the Indiana University Workshop were Bette Kramer, Paula Riggins, and Carol Boone. The girls edit the publications.

Organizations flourish

A PLEA FOR HELP! Red Cross officers Tom Allen, Nancy Whitlow, and Laura Parker exhibit journals and posters concerning the Red Cross campaign.

School and community organizations are the Washingtonians, Red Cross, and Intra-City Student Council. The Washingtonians sponsor each year a big sister-little sister party and help freshmen girls to adjust to Washington's social life. The Red Cross sponsors an annual fall drive for less fortunate people.

The Intra-City Student Council discusses student administrations with representatives of other high schools. They also sponsor the annual Sportsmanship Banner at Butler.

The National Forensic League is an honorary group of pupils who have acquired enough points from their speech activities. The members are eligible for contests, degrees, and pins.

The National Thespians, a dramatic honorary, sponsors and presents plays for students' enjoyment and entertainment.

The Expedition Into Knowledge is a panel group of four students who compete with other city high schools for academic achievement.

TOMORROW'S LEADERS. Those who attended the Intra-City Student Council meetings are Rick Blake, Margaret Knight, Cheryl Roberts, and Ronnie Lewis.

Continentals set the mood

In Athletics

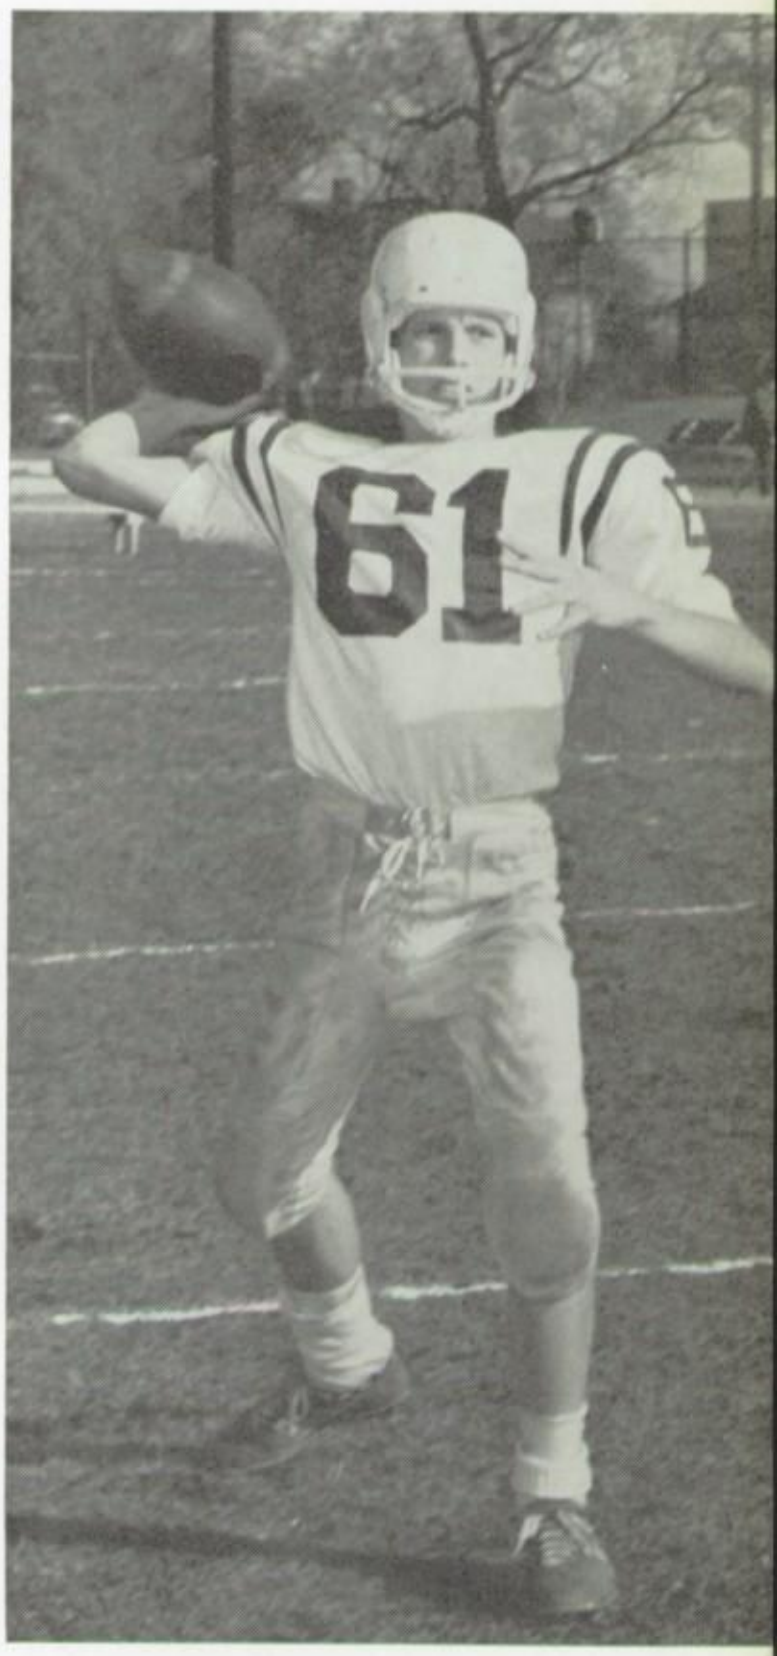
Coach Jack Bradford of Tech and Washington's Coach Jerry Oliver meet with mixed emotions after a frantic finish to the City Tourney.

Track Queen Karen Koon is surrounded by the members of her court, Janie Leeper, Donna Burkert, Diane Pierson, and Karen Powell. These girls attend each home track meet.



Eddie Bopp, named the Most Valuable Player in the city, steps back and gets set to throw a pass for a Continental gain.

With loyalty to our team, our school, and ourselves, we enter each athletic contest with the desire, the spirit, and the determination to win, but we also learn to accept defeat with poise and courage as Continentals set the mood in athletics.

Grider wins second consecutive state title

It was a second banner year in a row as Senior State Champion Dennis Grider donned his crown of double victory. For the second consecutive year, Dennis outran all of the finest distance runners in the state to bring an exciting end to this year's successful cross-country season. Dennis paced the team to a seventh place finish in the state meet. Another highlight during the season, was the team's win over Anderson. It was the first win ever recorded by Washington against any Anderson team. Coach John Bradley is looking forward to next year's season since he has an outstanding group of runners returning with a year's experience under their belts.

PACE SETTERS. The backbone for the varsity cross-country team is this fearsome foursome: Jerry Macy, Dennis Grider, Ralph Grider, and Jim Johnson.

Desire and determination were the key words for Washington's 1964 gridiron greats. The strict discipline and vigorous training program stressed so heavily by Coach Robert Springer and his staff, coupled with the fightin' Continental spirit which this team had, provided the kind of gridiron action which brings to Washington the reputation of the finest football on the Westside. Lead by All-City Quarterback Eddie Bopp, the team closed the season with a 6-4-0 record for Coach Springer's second consecutive winning season.

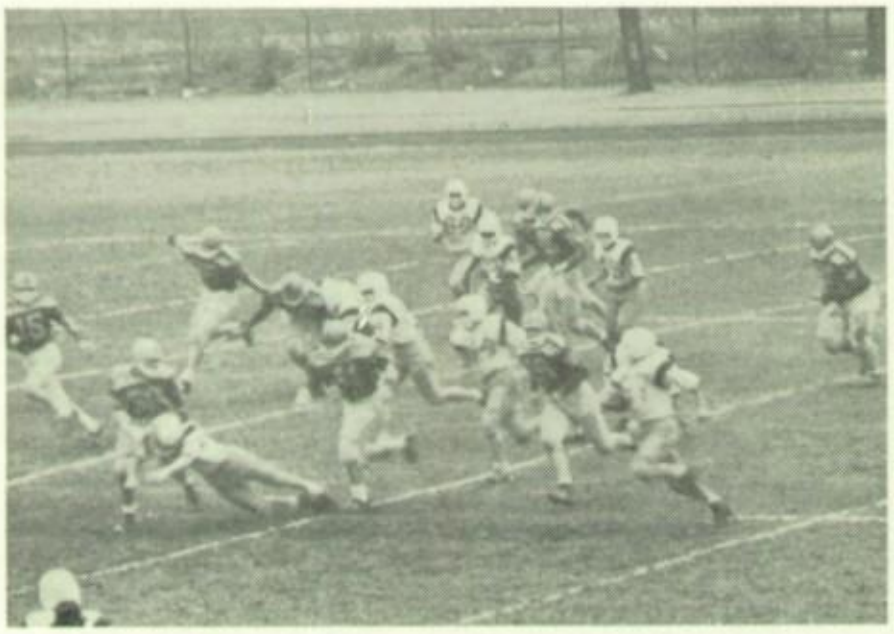
Frosh win 'City Championship'; reserves



END RUN? Reserve Halfback Bob Crist gets good blocking as he hustles around left end to gain a few yards in the season's finale against Howe.

Determination and spirit rode the shoulders of this year's freshman football team and spurred them on to become head Coach John Williams' second City Championship team in three years. The action was rough, but the yearlings proved themselves capable of defeating any and all comers.

Hardships and lack of size burdened the reserve squad throughout a medicore season. In more than one game, the Continentals had only twelve players and at the end of the year two student managers dressed and played. A freshman boy who had no previous experience at quarterback played that position in every game.

Head Coach John Williams and his grapplers suffered from more than their fair share of defeats this year which looked bleak from the beginning. With over half of the previous year's men gone and only four lettermen returning, the matmen had a season of experience and rebuilding ahead of them as shown in the final season record of 3-7. However, a great deal of drive and determination was shown during the season and Coach Williams is looking forward to a much more successful 1964-65 season. LOOK OUT OSCAR! So says Continental John Dowdell as he attempts to throw Woodchuck Oscar Green off target during a sectional game.

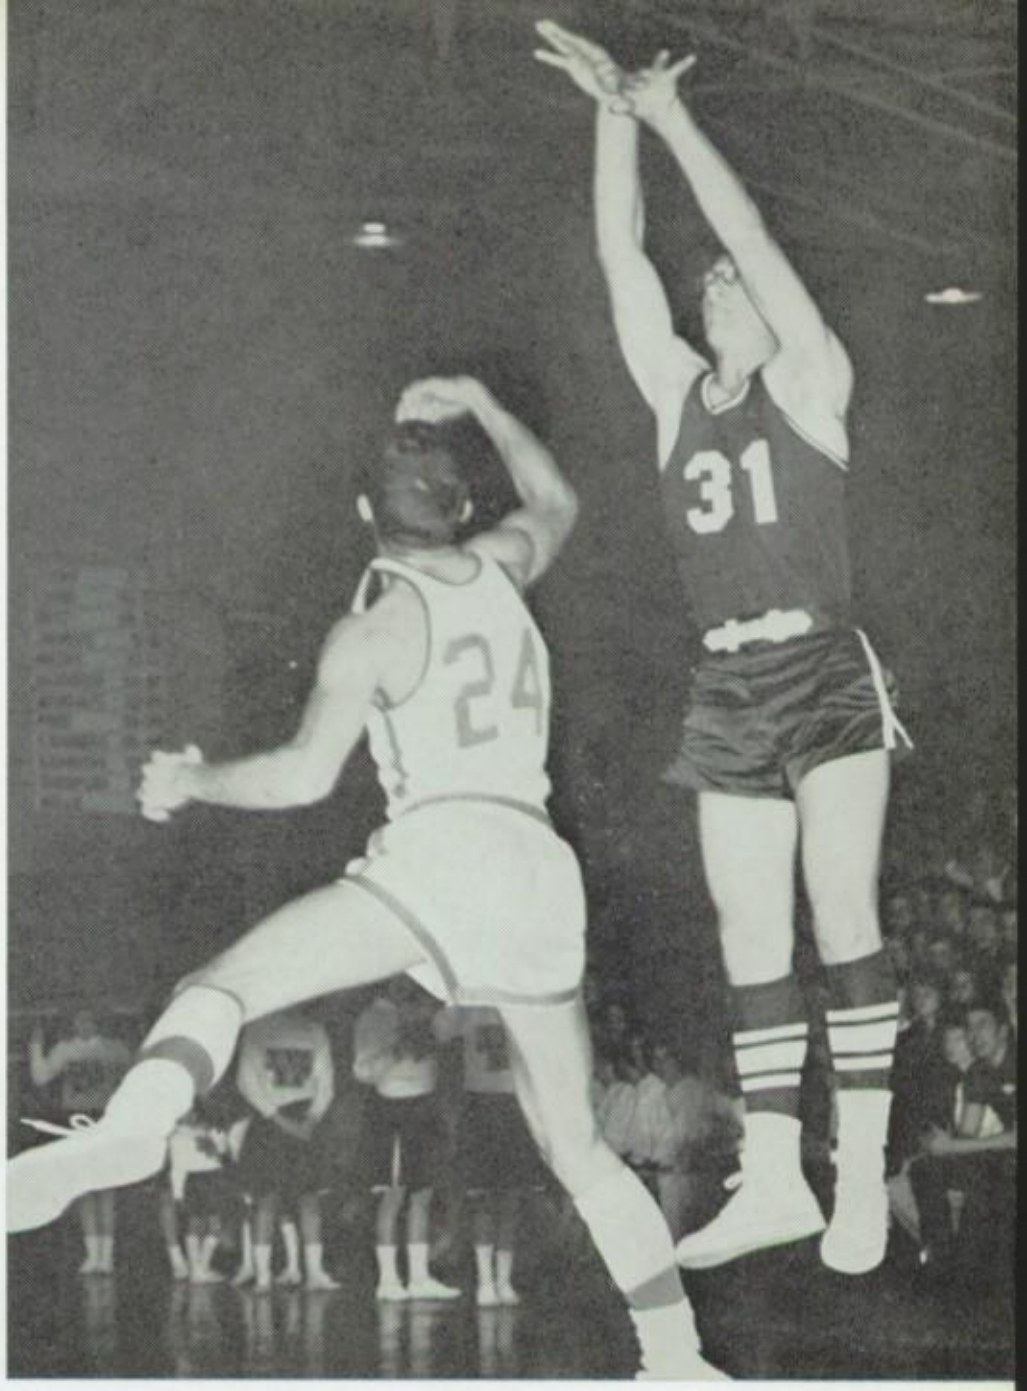
lose sectional final

The varsity basketball squad, rated fourth in the state at one time and not lower than sixth, ended another outstanding season with a disappointing loss in the final game of the Southport Sectional for the third consecutive year. But the 23-2 overall record against the stiffest high school competition in the state, and possibly the country, helped sooth the wound from the big loss. The pressing zone and man-to-man defenses and the smooth team balance were the biggest assets of the '63-'64 Continentals. This also enabled many players on the squad to receive individual recognition and the first six players were named to both All-City and All-Sectional teams.

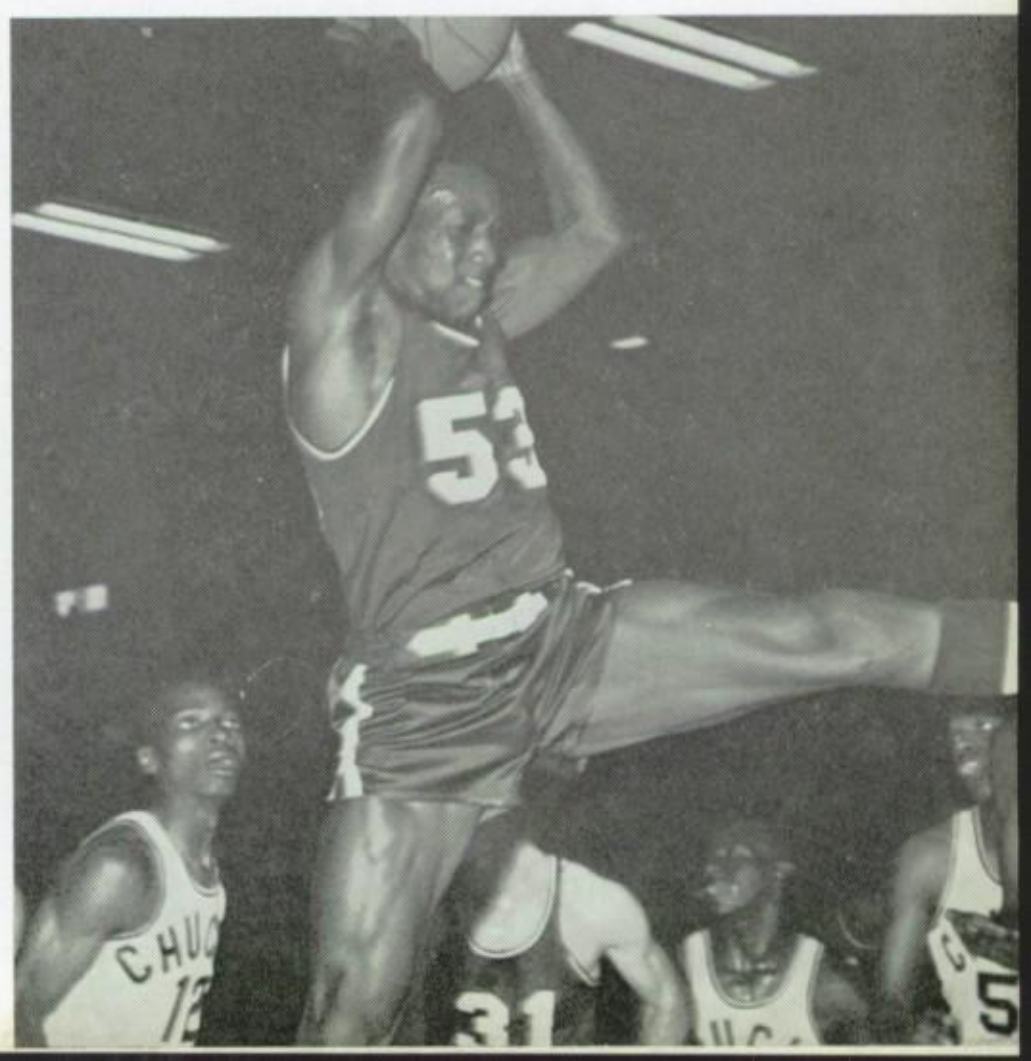
GIVE UP MACKEY. Continentals Calvin Schaffer and Ralph Taylor fight for the ball against Tech's Mackey Johnson. Johnson got the tip.

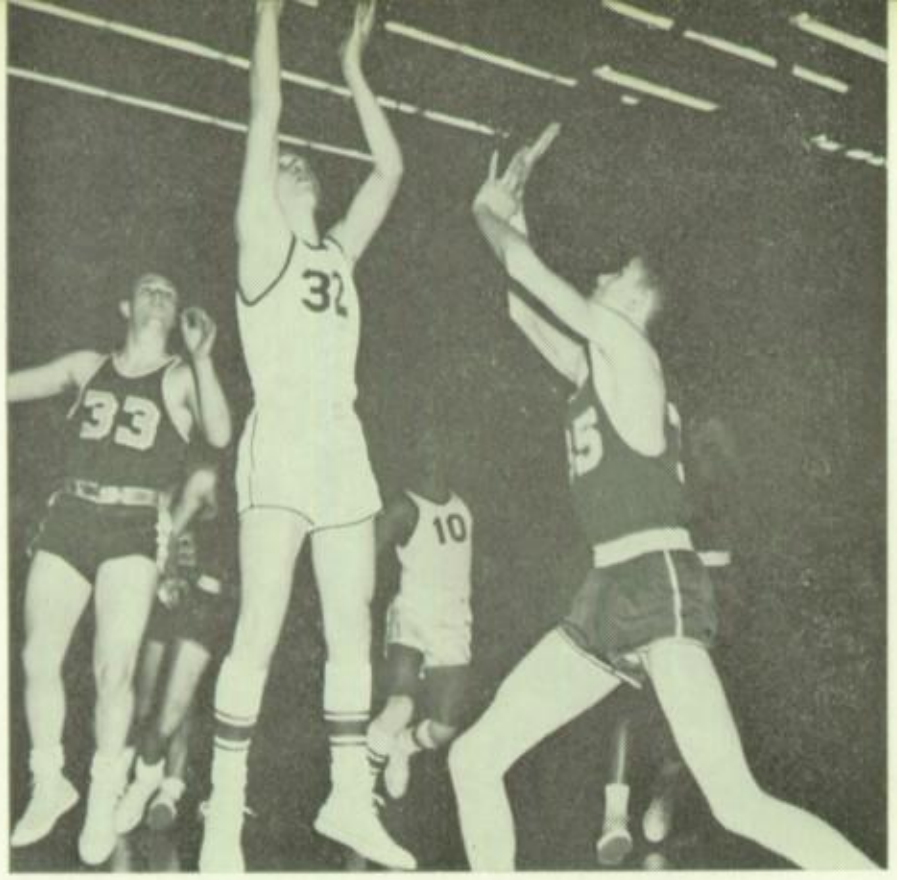
WORLD CHAMPS!! Or so said Terre Haute Gerstmeyer coach Howard Sharpe to Washington coach Jerry Oliver after his Cats were thumped early in the year. Billy Keller's rebounding form is proof of the outstanding play that night.



EVERYBODY'S DOING THE JINGLE-JUMP! Bob "Radar" Komlanc lets fly with one of his patented two-handers as the Washington cheerleaders witness a new dance by the Shortridge defender during a regular season game.

AN UNFORGETTABLE REBOUND. The strain-legs and face of Ralph Taylor show the determination and guts that was predominate throughout the year, but this certain rebound cost the services of Ralph during the sectionals.





UP AND IN. Dead-eye forward Steve Totten lets one fly from the corner in a regular season game with Scecina. Marvin Winkler moves in for a follow-up shot in the background. The reserves won this game at Northwest.

Reserves win 'City'

The reserve team climaxed the year in January with a City Championship victory to match the varsity. Sophomores Marvin Winkler, Bill Rogers, and Mark Gladson were the three highest scorers in that order. Only two juniors participated on the reserve squad which posted the best record ever for a reserve team at Washington, including last year's 19-2 compared to this year's 20-2. The freshmen added much needed experience to what should be another banner year for the reserves next year. The final season record, 13-3, was good, but the close games just didn't seem to lean towards the "rookies." Coach McConnell's high scorers Leroy Dill, Larry Highbaugh, and Jeff Neely led the frosh throughout the year.

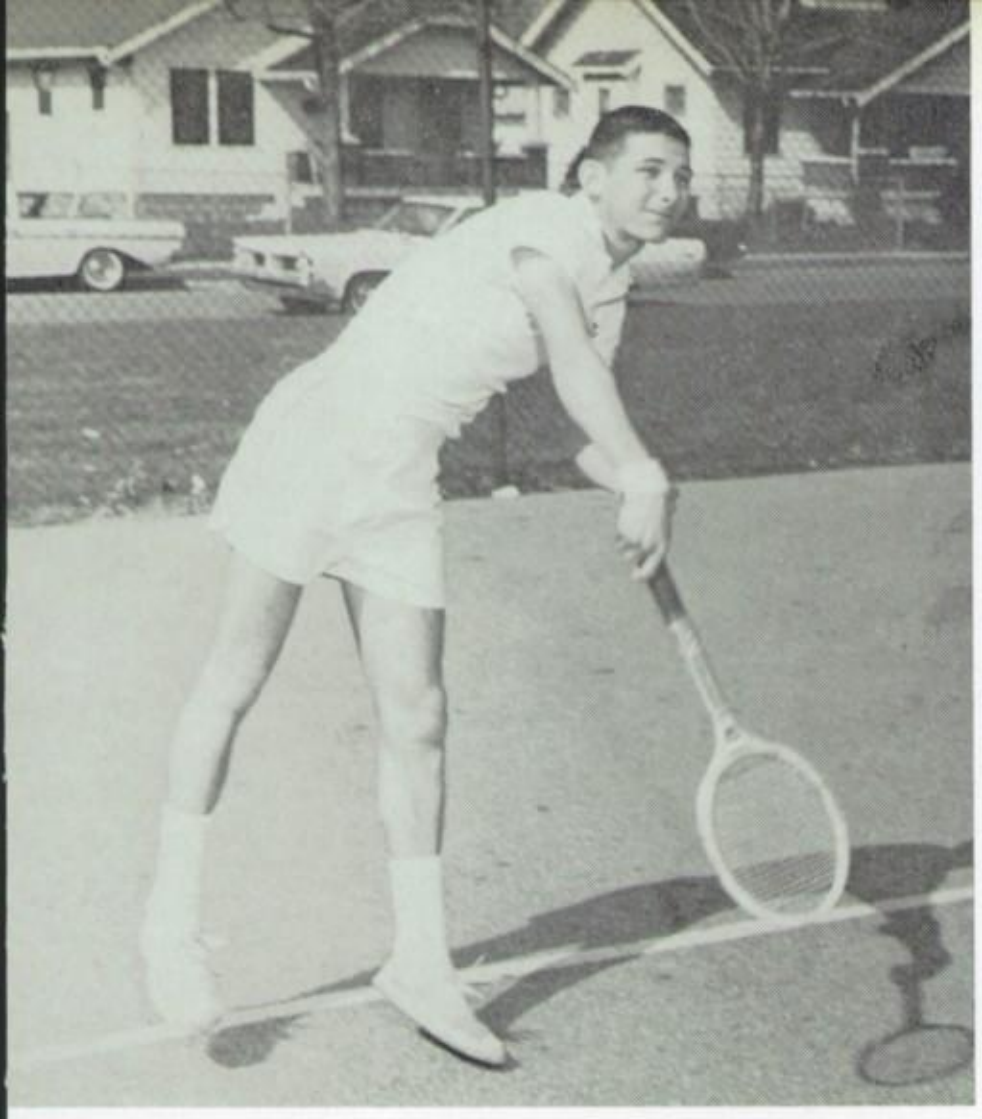
The cindermen won the City Championship this year, the first since 1948.

Cindermen win first title since '48; tennis

NEW RECORD! Freshman Larry Highbaugh kicks high in practice to try to better his early season work of 6'2."

STRETCH! Charles Rowland stretches for extra distance in the broad jump.

ONE, TWO COMBINATION. Consistently taking the first two places in the mile run are Jim Johnson and Dennis Grider, the Cross Country Champ.

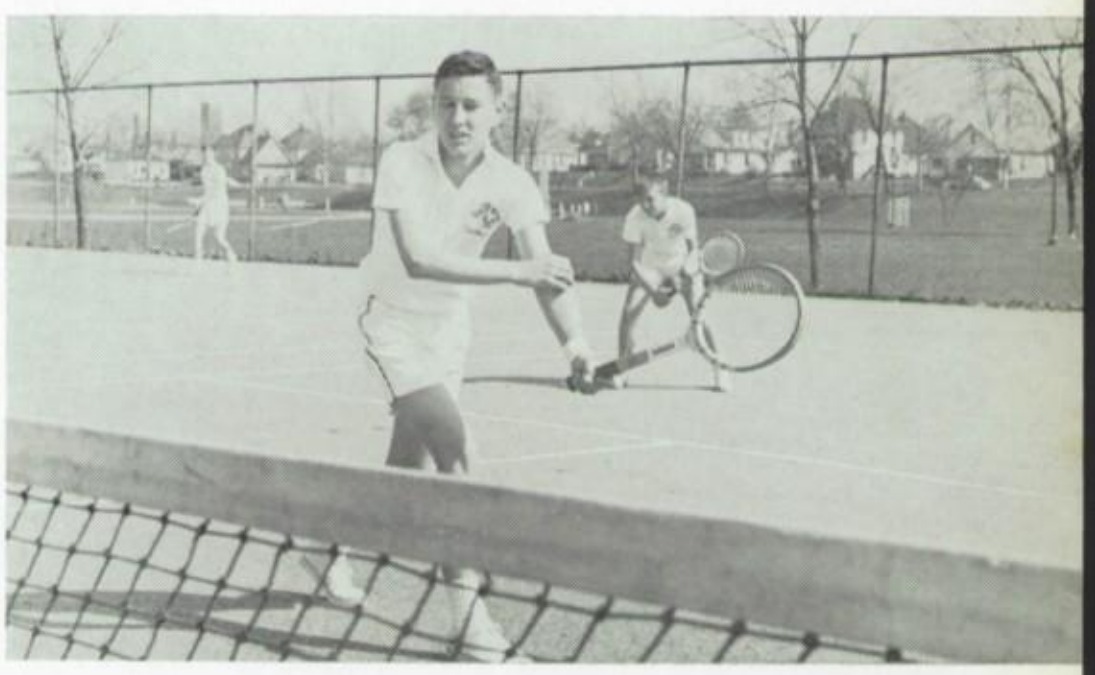


Washington's track men were the ones to beat this year as a comparatively small group of boys with a large amount of talent and individual desire and determination brought to Washington its first City Championship trophy since 1948. The greedy thinclads also took the Columbus Relays and at the time the POST went to press, the team had compiled a season record of 8-1-0 in regularly scheduled meets.

As far as the world of tennis goes, this year produced some new faces in Continentaland. The only returning letterman was Dick Gardner. Mr. Robert Springer, head football mentor, tackled an entirely new field of instruction as he served as coach for the racketmen.

SPLOOF! Senior, Dick Gardner, lets fly with a mighty serve preceding a match with the Ben Davis Giants. Dick is a three year letter winner in tennis.

'ten' lack experience



IN THERE!! Sophomore Kenny Wolf rushes the net in an effort to trick his opponet.

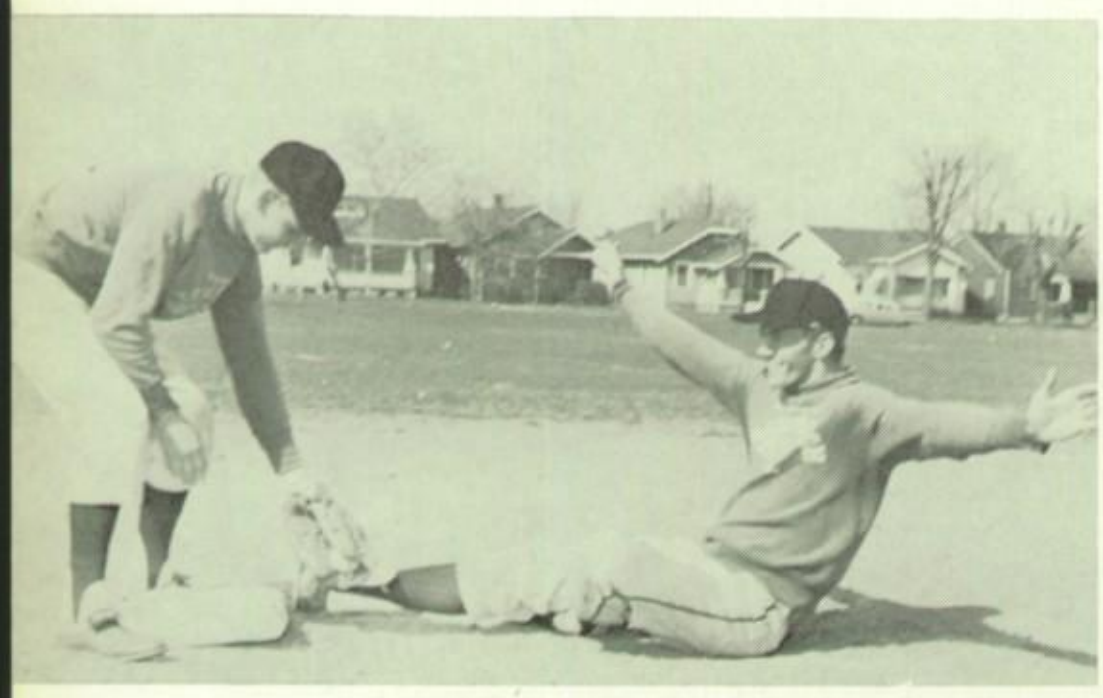
Seven lettermen

The varsity and reserve baseball squads both have been experiencing inconsistent seasons up to the printing of this copy. The varsity has defeated such worthy opponents as Shelbyville, Kokomo, Arlington, and Sacred Heart while showing unlimited batting and pitching prowness, but at times the "sticks" and "hurlers" were absent and in turn the Continentals have tasted defeat. Much like the varsity, the reserves have beaten some worthwhile opponents but have lost a few also.

SAFE!! Sam Kitchens smiles as he slides to second base and avoids Kerry O'Brien's tag.



BASE HIT! Gary Sylvester tags the ball for a base hit as Mike Lloyd attempts to catch it.

YOU'RE OUT!! Marvin Winkler calls Mark Gladson out as Jeff Neely puts the tag to him.

With an inexperienced golf team, Coach Jerry Oliver, in his initial year as "Leader of the Linksmen," has been rebuilding for the years ahead. With all of the 1963 team either graduated or attending first year Northwest, Coach Jerry Oliver had to start from scratch. When the POST went to press, the team had a record of one win and seven losses. The high school duffers through hard work and practice have their sights on a better season next year.

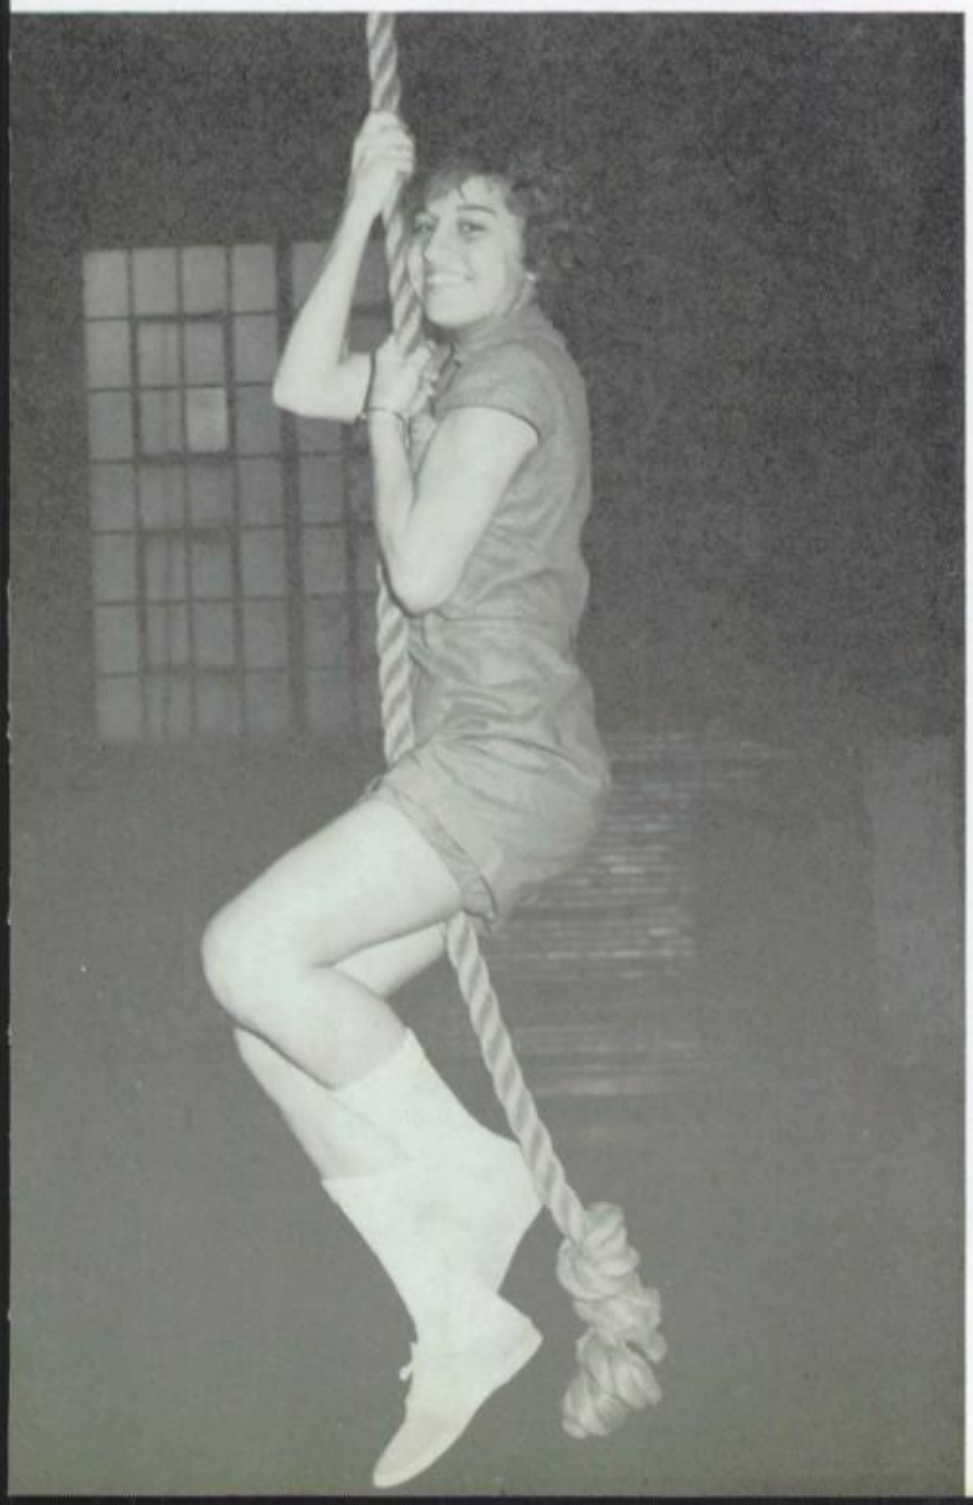
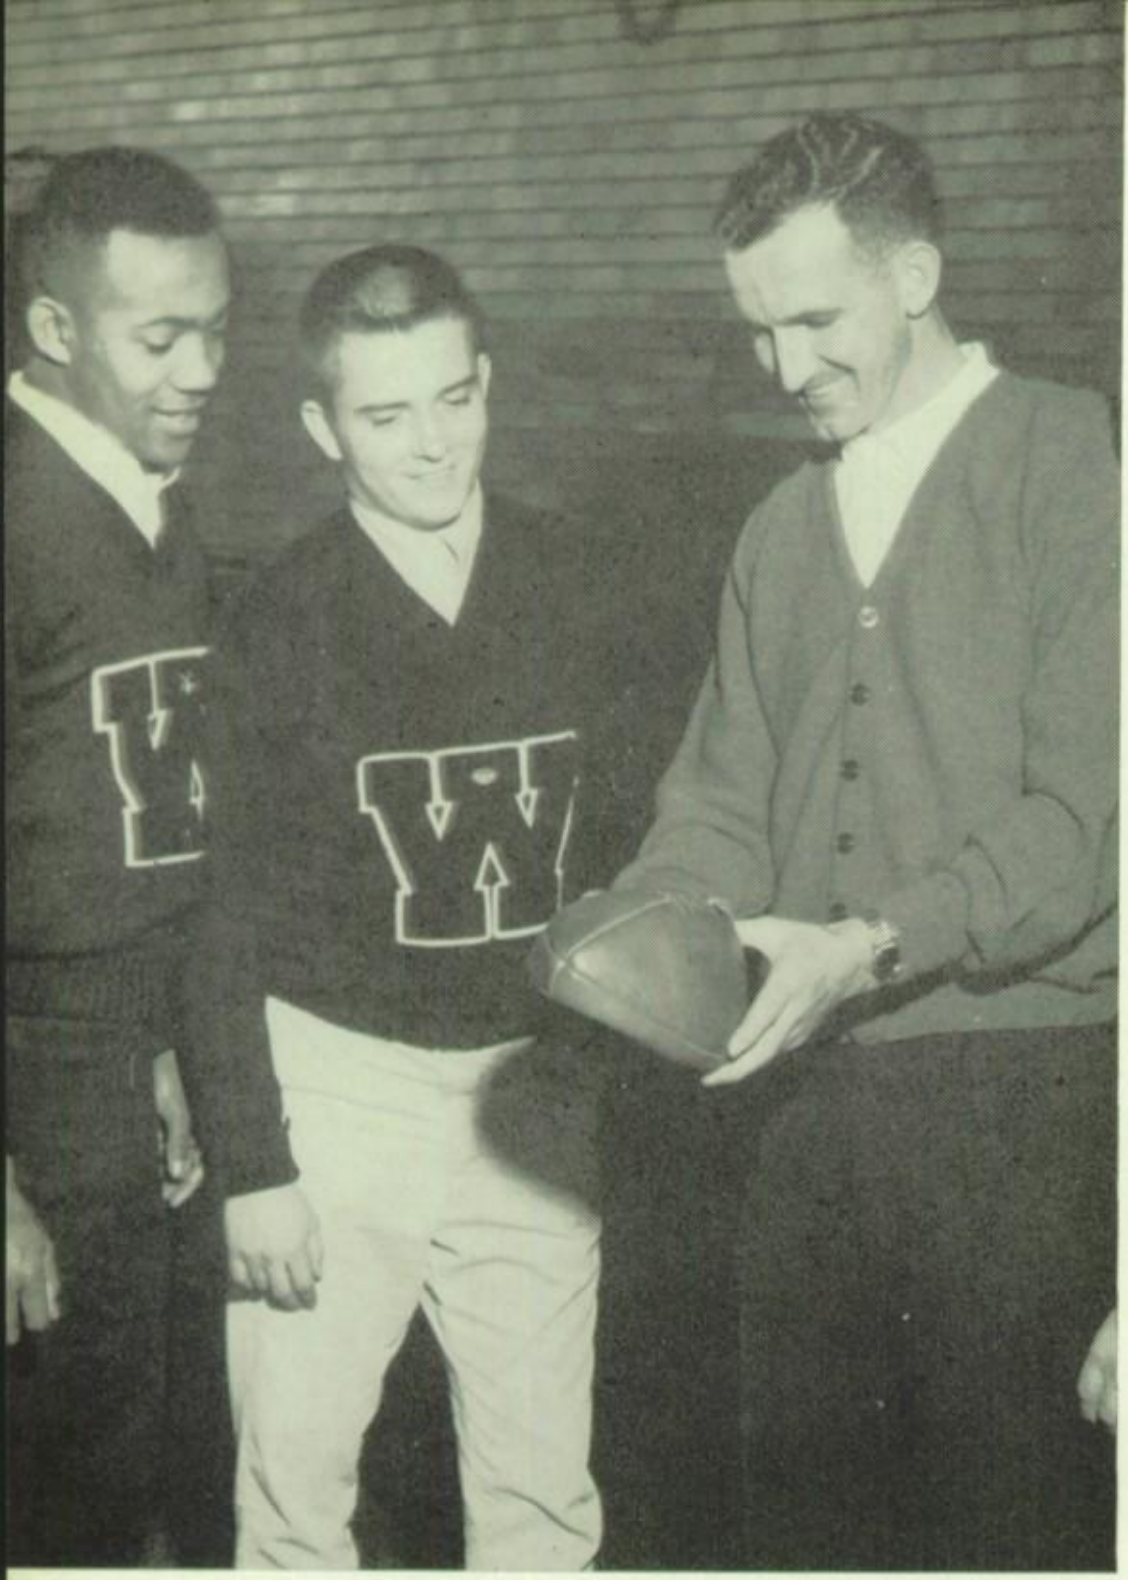
CGAA develops girls' athletic skills



CGAA, Continental Girl's Athletic Association, is an extra-curricular activity provided for the girls who are interested in sports. Directed by Miss Carol Holmes, physical education teacher, the association participates in such sports as volleyball, basketball, and kickball throughout the school year. As part of their schedule, Miss Holmes' basketball team opposed another girls' team during the halftime of the Faculty-Student basketball game in the boys' gym. A Christmas party also helped fill the agenda for the association. Before the school dispersement for the holidays, the CGAA gave a Christmas party for the members in the girls' gym. Five of the girls also attended a dance clinic at Indiana University.

ME JANE! Freshman Sandra Whittle isn't exactly climbing a vine in the jungle, but she is climbing the rope in the girls' gym as part of the CGAA program.



The Lettermen's Club, sponsored by Mr. Howard Leedy, has done much for the school spirit during the year. Before games they put up signs and generally aroused the school to a fighting pitch. They even journeyed to Bloomington to be on hand to urge our cross country team to victory in the sectionals. At all home games they helped by directing crowds and keeping the spectators away from the playing floor. A new endeavor this year was a charity Christmas Party given for underprivileged kids. The money was received through a school-wide sale of booster licence plates. The party was held in the school cafeteria, and it was possibly the first time some of the children in attendance had such a splendid Christmas.

Lettermen's club and

LETTER WINNERS! Members of the Lettermen's Club are Front Row: J. Rust, D. Grider, S. Wilson, L. Key, G. Hart, R. Grider, J. Blake-Pres., C. Shaffer-Vice-pres., M. Lloyd-Sec.-Treas., M. Tibbetts, B. Apple, J. Turner, and J. Wesseller. Row 2: D. Garner, N. Shelley, B. McCoy, B. Sandusky, M. Parker, C. Rowland, M. King, J. Dowdell, R. Taylor, G. Sylvester, K. Strong, and S. Purichia. Back Row: Mr. Howard Leddy, T. Gregg, J. Cox, B. Komlanc, J. Mach, J. Johnson, E. Bopp, S. Kitchens, S. Midkiff, M. Furimsky, H. Tibbetts, D. Caldwell, P. Cook, B. Collier, B. Personett. The members of the Lettermen's Club meet every Friday morning.

WE GOT SPIRIT! The yell leaders that cheered our football team to victory this season include (from top to bottom); Suzanne St. John, Vicki Wright, Donna Burkert, Phyllis Abbot, Karen Koon and Bobbie Morgan.

Cheerleaders boost team spirit and morale

One of the greatest honors a girl can receive while she attends high school is to be chosen cheerleader. Each spring, Washington forms a cheerleading clinic to aid the girls in learning the yells and the jumps. After three sessions at the clinic, the girls tryout for positions on the cheerleading squad. The girls selected for the 1963-64 season were Karen Koon, Suzi St. John, Vicki Wright, and Donna Burkert, varsity. The reserve group consisted of, Bobbi Morgan, Sandy Lambert, and Phyllis Abbot. The cheerleaders lead the vigorous yelling at football and basketball games while they keep in tune with a sportmanship code.

WE'RE THE CONTINENTALS! Varsity basketball cheerleaders, Vicki Wright, Karen Koon, Suzanne St. John, and Donna Burkert, help to create enthusiasm throughout the basketball season.

Senior Mary Martin, a Washingtonian, offers directions to her "little sister" who seems to have briefly lost her way.

Continentals set the mood

Carolyn Blankenship, one of the many library assistants, aids Peggy Bergan in locating a book in the Fiction Library.

In Personalities

The Royal Couple Pete Cook and Joanne Reid were crowned King and Queen of the 1964 Continental Capers.

Nancy Taylor and Donna Wilson are looking over the exhibits with two other spectators at the Junior Achievement Trade Fair.

Although class work and group activities are an inherent part of the school routine, we find that individualistic ideas and approaches cannot be stifled as Continentals set the mood in personalities.

Pam Henry is put into a daze over what seems to be a very good report card.

May Queen

Paulette Frye

Vicki Wright

Diane Pierson

Jane Leeper

The most coveted honor any senior girl can obtain is the title of May Queen. The top one third of the senior girls are eligible to run; then after the entire senior class has eliminated all but twenty-one girls, the juniors and seniors vote to determine the Queen and her court. The girls selected as the Queen and the court reign over the Senior Prom and they present the scholastic, athletic, and service awards at the annual Awards Day ceremony. This day was established to present special awards and to give the seniors a personal farewell.

Senior activities add

As the 1964 Seniors approached the closing of their final high school semester, they looked back at the fun-filled days of a year never to be forgotten. Starting with the hectic days of electing class officers until Awards Day, they had their hands filled with activities that have made for them a better year. Highlighting the year was the Senior Prom. The close was met with the commencement exercises at Butler Theatron.

CLASS LEADERS! Senior Class Officers are Sam Kitchens, president; Mike Lloyd, sergeant-at-arms; Janet Blake, treasurer; Paulette Frye, vice president; Vicki Wright, secretary; Mike Furimsky, sergeant-at-arms.

ALL AGLOW! Princess of Light Paulette Frye helps with the lighting of the school's Christmas tree.

WALKING PICTURES! Howard Porter and Robert Bremmer laugh at each others colorful but funny looking senior cords.

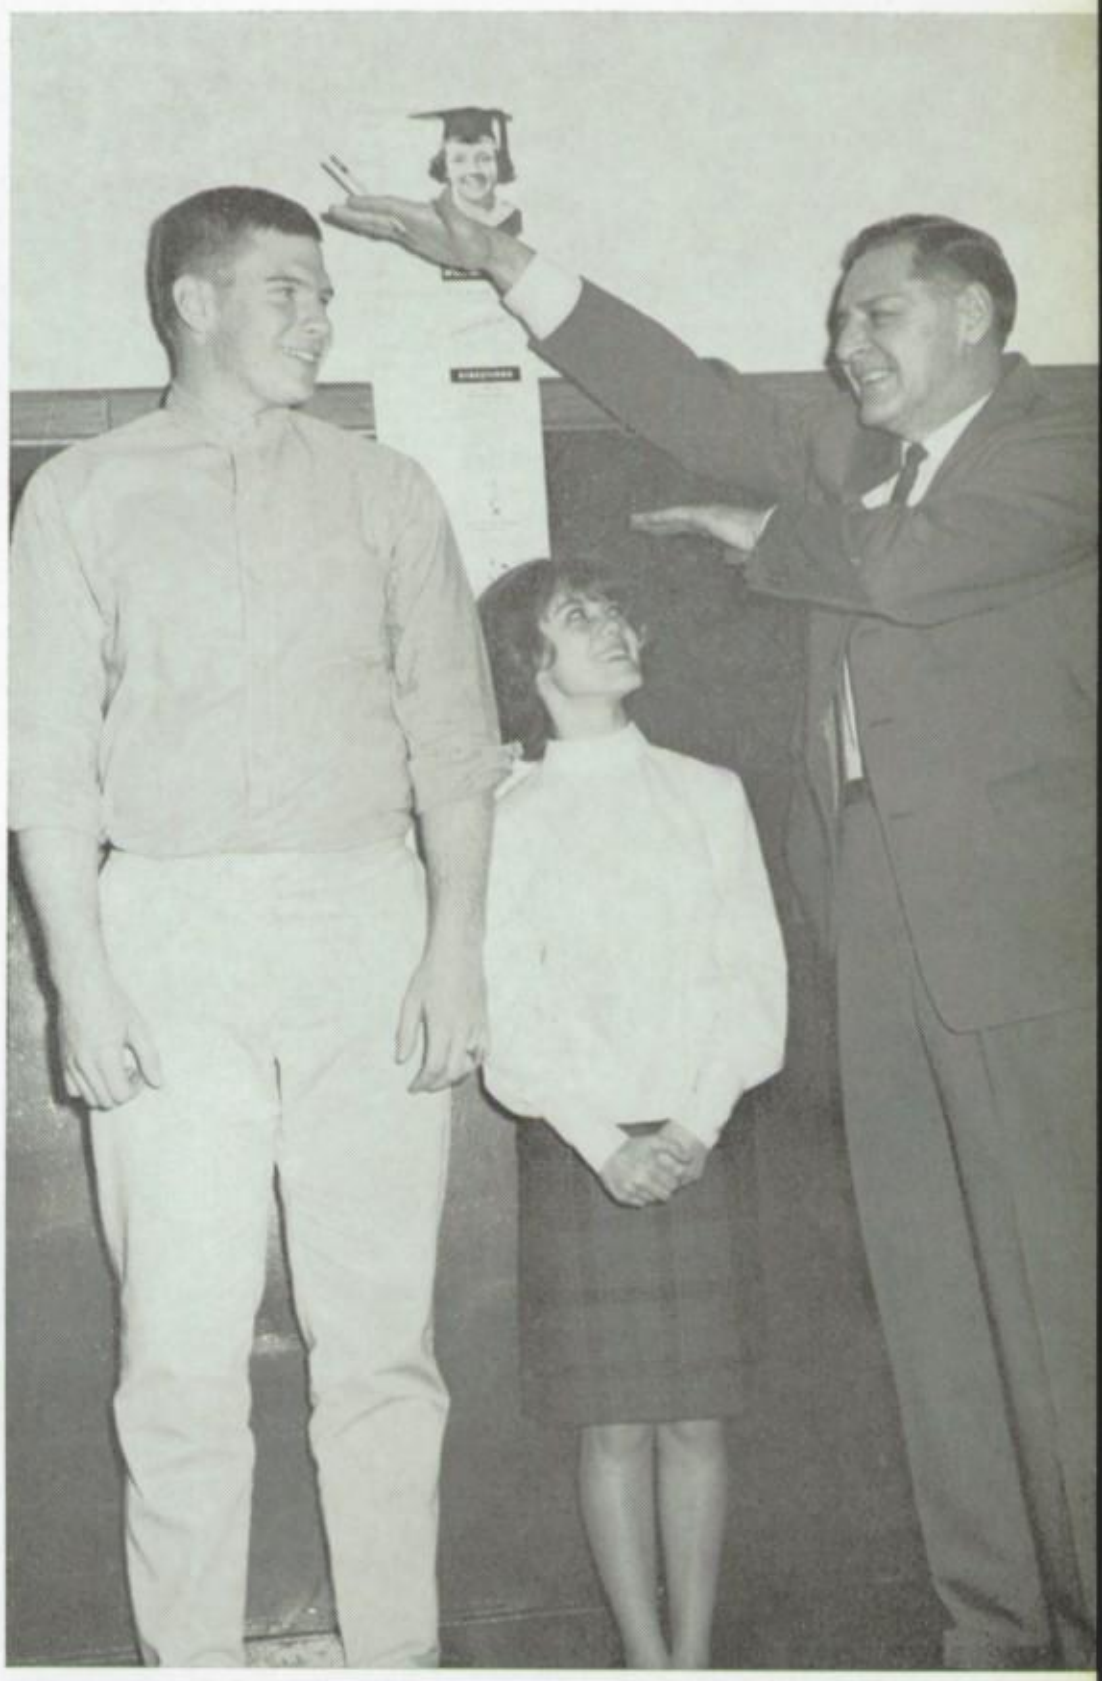
to the tradition and atmosphere of school

LEVERS DOWN! Seniors Peggy Bergan and Mary Martin post signs around the school urging all seniors to vote for the candidates of their choice.



LONG AND SHORT OF IT ALL!! Mr. Russell McConnell discovers that seniors come in all sizes as he measures towering Steve Midkiff and tiny Janie Petty for their commencement caps and gowns.

In Memoriam

Robert M. McConnell, acting head of the Mathematics Department, died of a heart attack at his home January 20, 1964. Mr. McConnell, a former principal and coach at Fowler and Lopaz High Schools, was a member of the Washington teaching staff for three and one-half years. In addition to teaching mathematics, Mr. McConnell was the sponsor of the senior roll room, Auditorium 7. He worked with many of the same pupils last year as he was then a junior roll room sponsor. Mr. McConnell was a member of the Indiana State Teachers Association, a past member of the Fowler Masonic Lodge, and an elder of the Hope Presbyterian Church in Plainfield. It is with deep regret that the administration, faculty, and students send their respects and sympathy to his widow, Mrs. Mary McConnell and his two children, Mary Elizabeth and Charles.

Juniors dance on 'This Side of Heaven'

Last year at the end of the semester the class of '65 elected the officers who served this year. In the middle of the last semester plans were made and worried about until they turned into the acts of the Junior Review. The Junior Prom was the highlight of the year, and the theme "This Side Of Heaven" was carried out in a beautiful and decorative manner to be remembered for a long time by all those who attended. Although the Juniors were a proud class, they are still looking forward to next year's activities and seniority.

HOUSEWORK AT SCHOOL? Clean-up Queen Darla Moore demonstrates that even "Continentaland" needs a good cleaning each year.

Continentals ARE the mood

As we prepare ourselves for the future, we find we have progressed academically and socially, enjoyed success and suffered failure, and with determination we continue our step forward as we are the hope and the life of our nation.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK:

As the closing of another school year approaches, the 1964 POST staff sighs happily with the completion of what we hope to be the "best yet."

IT ALL STARTED WITH THE...

grasping and searching for a yearbook theme,
I.U. summer institute,
never ending composition of copy blocks,
cropping of pictures,
pasting of panels,
DEADLINES!

THEN THERE WERE...

those hectic hours of picture scheduling,
those glorious hours spent out of classes,
those misplaced picture identifications, those first press proofs which made everything seem worthwhile.

FOR THE SENIORS,

we hope these pages will represent the fun-filled months that have brought to a close your high school careers, recorded in a manner that will make a lasting impression upon the hearts of each of you.

FOR THE REMAINDER OF THE STUDENT BODY, this book will serve as an accurate account of the many activities that you have planned and you have carried out.

YET FOR ME,

it will denote a symbol of devoted work that has gone into each page, of the pride that is felt when all is completed, of the friends that were gained, and of the sleep that was lost.

SO, AS ANOTHER CHAPTER of the Continental history comes to a close and dies away, the MOODS that were set, will live on to echo into the coming years.

THANKS TO...

my adviser, Mrs. Morris,
my assistant editor, Paula Riggins,
my sports editor, Fred Hulser,
my ENTIRE staff,
my parents, teachers, and friends who have been patient with my moods, advised and helped me.

ABOVE ALL,

I thank YOU for allowing me the pleasure of presenting this, the 1964 POST.

Your editor,
Carol Boone
